COAT OF ARMS OF THE HENDERSON
BARONETS, FORDELL, COUNTY
FIFE, SCOTLAND

They are ascribed to the Hendersons of Virginia, and are blazoned: Gules, three piles issuing out of the sinister side argent, on a chief of the last a crescent azure between two spots of ermine. Motto: Sola Virtus nobilitat. Another Henderson Coat-of-Arms, said to be more ancient than the one here emblazoned, is: Per pale indented sable and argent, on chief of the second a crescent vert between two ermine spots.

INTRODUCTION

The surname Henderson is derived from Henry—Henry's son, which in time became Henrison, Hendrickson, Henderson. The name is old in Scotland, the family, having lived there since the fifteenth century. The chief seat being at Fordell, County Fife; and "Henderson of Fordell," is a term of distinction, and well known throughout the United Kingdom.

Many authentic and traditional stories are current portraying the valor and dexterity of the earlier generations, in peace and at war. And their fame extends across the continent.

Among the prominent members of the family, were: James Henderson of Fordell, who was Lord Justice and King's Advocate, and received a charter under the Great Seal—in the time of James IV; George Henderson of the next generation, was granted lands in the Shires of Fife and Edinburgh by Queen Mary of Scotland, and his wife was one of her Maids of Honor. He gave his life for his country. His son, James, married Jean, daughter of William Murray, Baron of Tullibardine. Robert Henderson figured extensively during the reign of James III of Scotland.

Another James Henderson, was a man of parts, and James VI conferred a singular favor upon him in excusing him from attending the wars all the days of his life, "In consideration of the good, true and thankful services, not only done by himself, but also by his predecessors, to us and our predecessors, of worthy memory, in all times past, without defection at any time from the royal obedience that becomes good and faithful subjects. Dated at our palace of Holyroodhouse, February 27, and the twenty-first year of our reign." Signed by the King.

A celebrated name in Scotland, was that of Alexander Henderson, who next to John Knox, is considered by many as the most famous Scottish Protestant Theologian. He was Chaplain to King Charles I, and later mediated between the King and Parliament at Oxford. Was three times Moderator of the General Assembly at Edinburgh, when he presented a draught of the famous 'Solemn League and Covenant,' which with slight modifications, passed both Houses and became law for the two kingdoms. Henderson died in Edinburgh in 1646, and his death was the occasion of a national mourning in Scotland.

Ebenezer Henderson (1784-1858) was a Scottish missionary of great linguistic attainments whose field of labor covered, India, Denmark, Sweden, Lapland, Iceland, Germany and Russia.

Thomas Henderson (1798-1844) was a Scotch astronomer of considerable distinction. He was Secretary to the Earl of Lauderdale and to Lord Jeffrey. In 1831 he was made royal astronomer at the Cape of Good Hope, and two years later was appointed astronomer royal for Scotland, professor of practical astronomy at Edinburgh, and director of the Calton Hill Observatory.

A romance of the family, as told by Miss Frances M. Smith, is furnished by a certain Sir John Henderson, who fighting the natives in darkest Africa, was "rescued by a lady," so the record says. She was a royal, or a noble personage, which adds a touch of interest and a thrill to the narrative, and she was probably wearing her crown (or string of beads) at the very moment of rescue, for descendants of the hero of this story, still preserve, under glass, "A picture of this lady, with a coronet on her head, and a 'landskip' "—a representation probably of the very scene of the rescue.

Other Hendersons of note are: Frank H. Henderson, Vice-Admiral, Anglesey, Gosport; Sir Alexander Henderson (1902) First Baronet, Glenamond, Perthshire; Robert Henderson, C. B.—The Hermitage, Beckenham; Capt. Harold Greenwood Henderson, Kitemore, Faringdon, Berks.; Lt. Francis Barkley Henderson, Little Blakenham, Ipswich; Ven. James Henderson, New-Castle-on-Tyne; Sir. James Henderson, Oakley House, Windsor Park, Belfast; John Macdonald Henderson, White House, Felixstowe.

Thos. Henderson, of Jamestown, Va., 1607, was born in Scotland, a son Richard, married Polly Washer, and lived in Hanover Co. Samuel, one of several children (b 1700), married a little Welsh girl, Elizabeth Williams, aged about thirteen. He settled in Granville Co., N. C., and founded a very large and prominent branch of the family. His son, bearing the same name, removed to Kentucky at an early day where he assisted in the rescue of Jemima Boone and Elizabeth Callaway from the Indians and on the following day (7, Aug. 1776) he and Elizabeth Callaway were married. Their daughter, Fanny, b 29, May 1777, was the first white child born in the State of Kentucky, of parents married in that State. Another son of Samuel Henderson, Sr., was Judge Richard, who was appointed one of the two Associate Judges of North Carolina in 1768 by Gov. Tryon. Judge Henderson was President of the Transylvania Company, which, with Daniel Boone, Messrs. Hart and others, he organized. It was one of the greatest land companies ever in operation and comprised nearly the whole of Kentucky. Judge Henderson married Elizabeth Keeling, step-daughter of his kinsman, Judge Williams, and among his children were: Judge Leonard Henderson, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of N. C.; John Lawson Henderson, Clerk of Supreme Court; Richard, and Archibald, great-grand father of Prof. Archibald Henderson, Ph. D., of the University of North Carolina. Gov. Alexander Martin of N. C. was of this family. Thomas Henderson was also the ancestor of the several generations of Nathaniel Hendersons, who removed to Alabama in 1818. A descendant, Hon. Charles Henderson, is now the chief executive of that State.

Another American line is descended from Rev. Richard Henderson who married Janet Cleland. He had three sons: Archibald, Richard, and Alexander who married Sarah Moore and was a merchant at Colchester, Va. He came to Virginia in 1756, was a member of the House of Burgess before the Revolution. When peace was established, he was appointed by the Legislature, with four others: George Washington, George Mason, Thomas Jefferson and James Madison, as Commissioners to determine, in conjunction with commissioners from Maryland, the boundary line between the two States. They met at Mt. Vernon, the Maryland commissioners, and the result of their labors is known as "The Compact of 1785." When Thos. Henderson of Fauquier, a grandson of Alexander Henderson, was a member of the General Assembly nearly a hundred years later, the Commissioners of the two States, who were still struggling with the boundary question, appeared before the House, and Hon. A. D. Jones, then Attorney General of Maryland, addressed the Assembly, referring to the efforts made to settle the disputed lines almost a century before. Mr. C. E. Henderson of Easton, Maryland, is a descendant and perhaps the best historian of this branch.

And yet another line was founded by John Henderson who married Mrs. Margaret McCain, daughter of Mrs. Susan McCain, of New London, Penn. They were in Virginia prior to 1740. Among their children were: John, who married Elizabeth Bassett; William and Margaret. John, Jr., was the father of Isaac, b 1773-5; Dorcas; Charles; Thomas, b 1781 in Albemarle Co., Va.; William and Margaret. Mrs. Sarah Henderson Wiggins of Indianapolis is the chronicler of this family.

But probably the most complete and authentic record of the family in America, is given by Dr. Jos. Lyon Miller of Thomas, W. Va., in his concise little volume, "The Ancestry and Descendants of Lieut. John Henderson," (1650-1900); of Greenbrier county, W. Va. The writer is a great-grandson of the subject of the work, who is supposed to have been descendant of James Henderson, First Knight of Fordell (b 1450, killed in battle at Floddenfield on that fatal 9th of September, 1513); his son, John, also met his death at that time, as did their royal master, King James IV. of Scotland. In 1494, Sir James Henderson was appointed King's Advocate and a few years later, Lord Chief Justice, as has previously been mentioned.

As the similarity of given names between the main line of Fordell and the Virginia Hendersons may be of interest, the generations from "Burke," (1625-1850) are given:

"Sir John Henderson married Margaret Montieth, heiress of Raniford; by whom he had five sons and five daughters, and was succeeded by his eldest son, John Henderson, Esq., who was created a baronet of Nova Scotia, 15 July, 1664. Sir John married Margaret, daughter of Sir John Hamilton of Obieston, Lord Chief Justice Clerk; by whom he had two sons and two daughters, and dying in 1683, was succeeded by his second and only surviving son, Sir William, who married Miss Hamilton, daughter of Sir John Hamilton of Mountain Hall, by whom he had four sons and a daughter. He died in 1709 and was succeeded by his eldest son, Sir John, who married Christian, daughter of Sir Robert Anstruther, bart. of Balkaskie; by whom he had three sons and five daughters. Succeeded by second and eldest surviving son, Sir Robert (died October, 1781) married October 3, 1784, Isabella, daughter of George McKenzie, Esq., of Firne; by whom he had issue: John, his successor, and Sir Bruce, present Baronet (1834). Sir Bruce died childless, and the estate descended to his first cousin, George Mercer, who assumed the name of Mercer-Henderson."

John, James and Samuel Henderson, brothers and sons of Wm. Henderson and Margaret Bruce and grandsons of John Henderson, Gent., of Fifeshire, Scotland, came to Virginia about 1740. They all settled in Augusta county where they married and brought up families.

John Henderson was an Ensign in the Augusta Militia in the French and Indian War, and in 1758 received fourteen shillings pay. His will was recorded in Augusta county, 1766, and mentions a son, William, two daughters unnamed, and his wife, Rosa Finley, who was a sister of John Finley, one of the first Justices of the county.

Samuel Henderson was also in the Augusta Militia in 1758, and received a like amount as pay. His will is recorded in that county in 1782, and mentions his wife, Jane, and the following children: James, Andrew, Alexander and Florence. James, died, 1801, and his will mentions the wife, Isabella, and children: John, Joseph, Jones, Alexander, Becky, Sarah, Margaret and Jean.

James Henderson (b 1708 Scotland, d 1784, Va.), also served in the Augusta Militia in the French and Indian War, first as Ensign and later as Lieutenant. June 23, 1783, he married Martha, daughter of Audley Harrison Hamilton, Gent., and his wife Eleanor Adams. They were the parents of: David, John, James, William, Sarah, Joseph, Jean, Samuel, Archibald and Margaret. Dr. Miller brings the line of descendants of James and Martha Henderson, down to 1900 and embodies many interesting biographical items.

Among the distinguished Americans of this name are found: Hon. David B. Henderson of Iowa, Speaker of the National House of Representatives; Hon. James P. Henderson of Texas, United States Senator; Hon. John B. Henderson (son of Jas. and Mary Dawson Henderson of Danville, Va.) Federal General and United States Senator from Mo.; Wm. James Henderson, Musical Critic and Scholar, of New Jersey; Charles Hanford Henderson, Educator and writer, of Pennsylvania; and Chas. Richard Henderson, professor and writer, of Illinois.

The names of many others of this family might well be mentioned as history builders in America, but space does not permit. Collateral kinsmen of the Scotch Progenitor are scattered throughout the Western Hemisphere. They are engaged in every walk of life, and it is wholly unnecessary to enlarge upon the attributes and character, of this strict Covenanter family, descended from generation to generation, and ameliorated by each successive age. And while on the subject of the attainments and worth of the house of Henderson, it will not be out of place to remind the patient reader of this family's honor and uprightness, thrift and enterprise, courage and ambition, religious sincerity and charitable generosity, philanthropic spirit and statesmanship.

The Compiler does not claim pre-eminence for this family, whose history is rich in the story of brave men and noble women. Grand and brilliant men have sprung from other blood and their long lines of honored and illustrious descendants have impelled the admiration and envy of the continent, but they have talented men that are able to tell about them. The Compiler has attempted to recall all authentic available information of this noble ancestry, e'er the thoughtless destruction of records and the passing of the older generations has crumbled its gravestones and robed the spot in green.

HENDERSON CHRONICLES

FIRST GENERATION

- (1) i Henderson, the Progenitor. Several contributors advise that Sir Hugh Henderson, of Fordell, County Fife, Scotland, was undoubtedly the ancestor of the Virginia branch of the family with which this work treats. And bold assertions are made that three of his sons, William, Alexander and John came to America prior to 1740 and were disinherited when they fought with the American colonies against the mother country in the war of 1776-81. This is largely conjecture. As a matter of fact, these three brothers came from Fordell, County Fife, Scotland about the time mentioned, and located on Owl Creek, near Alexandria, Virginia, after which they soon separated. They may have participated in the Revolutionary war, there is a suspicion that they did, but no actual proof.

It is the opinion of the compiler, based on considerable research and study, that the Progenitor, was "Alexander," who was a son of John Henderson, who, it is believed, was a lineal descendant of Sir James Henderson (1450-1513) First Knight of Fordell and Lord Chief Justice to King James IV of Scotland.

SECOND GENERATION

CHILDREN OF ALEXANDER HENDERSON (1) OF FORDELL, SCOTLAND

- (2) i William Henderson, b ab 1707, Fordell, Scotland; d —; m (Miss Kearns?). From Pennsylvania Colonial Records, Vol. XI, p 2., it is noted that "Wm. Henderson was appointed Capt. of the Eleventh Penna. regiment, Nov. 13, 1776." He is supposed to have lived in Lancaster County, Penna., until after the Revolutionary War, when he probably emigrated into North Carolina.
- (3) ii Alexander Henderson, m Jean or Jane ——. With his brothers, Wm. and John, Alexander Henderson settled on Owl Creek, near Alexandria, Fairfax County, Virginia, ab

1735-40. The duration of his stay in this vicinity was short, next he removed to Albemarle County, Va., where he purchased 400 acres of land on Lickinghole, which he sold to John Piper in 1779-80, who in turn sold to John Buster in 1792. Henderson removed to Augusta County for a few years and finally settled in that section of Kentucky which in 1798 became Fleming Co. (It was formerly a part of Mason Co., which was formed in 1788 out of Bourbon Co., Ky.)

Miller, in his "Genealogies," mentions Alexander Henderson of Augusta County, Va., who married Sara, dau of Andrew and Elizabeth Wallace of Albemarle Co., who migrated to Madison Co., Ky., ab 1787 and settled on Paint Lick Creek. Whether this is the Alexander in question is a matter of uncertainty. Alexander was a common name in the family.

But it is certain that the old Henderson home in Fleming Co., Ky., was located about a mile east by north, of Mt. Carmel, on the north side of the State road to Virginia. The tract of land was inherited by a lineal descendant, Geo. A. Henderson (1823-1892), it passed into the hands of a nonkinsman, Sam'l. Foxworthy, in 1876. The old family burying ground on the farm has suffered the consequences of careless neglect; the fences, like Ben Bolt's Mill, have gone to decay, and over the graves are fields of waving grain.

Miss Falls, of Mississippi, furnishes the best account of her ancestor, Alexander Henderson to be found: "The first Henderson of whom I have any knowledge, was my gr-gr-father (my mother's father). He was a Scotch-Irishman who came over to Virginia, and later emigrated to Kentucky, settling in Fleming Co., not far from Mt. Carmel. I remember hearing my uncle, Alexander, say that Daniel Boone was often at his home. I often heard my mother speak of her grandfather. He lived to be quite old, and always talked quite broken, as my mother said. He had a number of slaves that he freed before he died, giving each a piece of land. I believe his name was Alexander, also, but am not positive on that point. Nor do we know the names of any of his children except my gr-father, Alex. Anderson. He was not of Catholic-Irish stock, but was a Presbyterian of the strictest kind, as were also my mother's parents."

One contributor states that Alex. Henderson fought at the battle of King's Mountain, with five of his sons; and another advises that he was once a resident of Orange Co., Va.

- (4) iii John Henderson, ab 1718-20; settled in Franklin Co., Pa., within twenty miles of Chambersburg, nine miles of Shippensburg and three miles of Upper Strausburg, where he married and reared a family of credit to the name.
- (5) iv Anna Henderson (name furnished by contributors).
- (6) v Daniel Henderson, supposed by some to be of this branch.

THIRD GENERATION

CHILDREN OF WM. HENDERSON (2)

- (7) i Kears Henderson, b Lancaster Co. Pa.; m 14, Nov. 1749, Elizabeth Robinson of Lancaster Co., Pa. They removed to North Carolina ten or twelve years before the county of Mecklenburg was established.
- (8) ii John Henderson, b 1730; d 1786; m Miss Bennett. In 1786, John Henderson bought, in Albemarle Co., the land on which Milton stood, from Dr. Arthur Hopkins, who entered it in 1732. A stream which empties into the river below Milton, was for many years known as Henderson's Branch. Their land was on the north side of the Rivanna. Milton was the seat of a public Tobacco Warehouse, called Henderson's, long after the Henderson family had removed to Kentucky.
- (9) iii Susan Henderson.
- (10) iv William Henderson.
- (11) v David Henderson.
- (12) vi Mary Henderson.
- (13) vii James Henderson.

CHILDREN OF ALEXANDER HENDERSON (3) & JEAN—

- (14) i David Henderson, b 1753; Virginia; d in Fleming Co., Ky.—later than 1810; m (1st) Elsey Anderson of that distinguished family of the Blue-Grass State; m (2nd) Isabelle Radcliffe of Fleming Co., Ky.
- (15) ii Jean Henderson, b Albemarle Co., Va.; m Mr. Beatty of the Pennsylvania family that has produced such personages as Admiral Gen. Frank E. Beatty, commander of the 1st Division of the Atlantic Fleet, Judge George Beatty of Kansas, Rev. Wm. Trimble Beatty, D. D., of Pennsylvania and Madame Louise Homer of the Metropolitan Opera.
- (17) iii Joseph Henderson, b Circa 1756; d ———; m Nancy Osborne. Res., Ky. Jos. Henderson served in the Revolution in the 3rd Va Regiment under Capt. John Ashby.
- (18) iv John Henderson; m ———; Albemarle Co., Va.
- (19) v Samuel Henderson.

- (20) vi William Henderson, m Anna Logan, Mason Co., Ky., of the same family as Gen. Benj. Logan of Kentucky. Wm. Logan, son of Gen. Logan, is claimed to have been the first white child to have been born in Kentucky. He was judge of the Ky. Court of Appeals and United States Senator from Kentucky. Jane Montgomery, his aunt, m Gen. Casey of Kentucky and became the grandmother of the famous humorist, Mark Twain. And Jane Logan, his sister, m Col. John Allen, of Kentucky.
- (21) vii James Henderson, b ab 1760-63; m circa 1784-5, Prudence Campbell. Emigrated with his family in 1789 to Mayslick, Bourbon Co., Ky.
- (22) viii Daniel Henderson, b 9, Mar. 1765, Albemarle Co., Va.; d 19, June 1828, Callaway Co., Mo. (His grave was the first to bear a marker, made in the Old AuxVasse cemetery); m ab 1802-03, Martha Steele, b 11 Jan. 1771, Augusta Co., Va.; d 2, Sept. 1855, Callaway Co., Mo. She was the daughter of Lieut. Jas. Steele, of the Revolution, and Sarah Wright. Mr. and Mrs. Henderson emigrated to Callaway Co., Mo., in 1823, and purchased their first Missouri land from Chas. Younger, grand-father of the noted Younger Boys of the Civil War. The old double log house erected by the Youngers in 1822 or earlier, is standing today. Daniel Henderson operated a grist and lumber water mill on the AuxVasse creek a short distance from his house, which, like Ben Bolt's Mill, has long since tumbled in, but the mill-race may be plainly seen today.
- (23) ix Robert Henderson.
- (24) x George W. Henderson.
- (25) xi Florence Henderson, b ab 1776; m ab 1798, Alexander McPheeters, son of Alex. McPheeters and Jane Campbell of Augusta Co., Va. Alex. McPheeters, Jr., m (2nd) Mrs. Arnett of Ky., Nicolas Co.
- (26) xii Alexander Henderson, b 1777; d 1859; m (1st) 1805, Margaret Hart, b 1777, Mt. Carmel, Ky.; d 1810; m (2nd) 1812, Elizabeth Morrison, b 1783; d 1854; Fleming Co., Ky. Alex. Henderson was a merchant at Mt. Carmel, Ky. The Harts are well represented in Kentucky life. Susanna Hart, daughter of Nathaniel Hart, m Isaac Shelby. Hon. Carter Harrison, ex-mayor of Chicago, was also of this line. Lucretia Hart, wife of Henry Clay, was descended from Thomas Hart. John and Benjamin Hart, artists, and Lieut.-Gov. Archibald Dixon, senator and author of the Kansas-Nebraska Bill, were of David Hart's line. Nathaniel, Thomas and David were actively associated with Judge Richard Henderson in the organization of the Transylvania Company.

The Morrison family is an old and honored one in America. The first Emigrant, Thomas Morrison, came from Scotland in 1765 and settled in Delaware; he participated in the Revolutionary war and died in Green Co., Penn., 1832. He left a line of distinguished descendants, among them, Hon. Wm. Jennings Bryan of Nebraska, and the late Col. Robt. Morrison of Illinois.

- (27) xiii Elizabeth Henderson, b ———; m Benjamin Stuart of Augusta Co., Va., son of Archibald Stuart and Janet Brown. Benj. Stuart was an uncle of Judge Alex. Stuart; gr-uncle of Hon. Archibald Stuart (Sec'y. of the Interior in Pres. Taylor's Cabinet); gr-gr-uncle of Gen. J. E. B. Stuart of Civil War fame, and gr-gr-gr-uncle of Hon. Henry Carter Stuart, present Governor of the Commonwealth of Virginia.
- (28) xiv Andrew Henderson (who is supposed to have been a brother, by several contributors and by a descendant); m 7, April 1796, Margaret McClure, Rev. John McCue of Augusta Co., Va., officiating.
- (29) xv ———; died in infancy.
- (30) xvi ———; died in infancy. N. B. The order of births may not be correct.

CHILDREN OF JOHN HENDERSON (4), OF FRANKLIN, CO., PA.

- (31) i James Henderson, b 17, Oct. 1744; m 19, June 1770, Sarah Hindman.
- (32) ii Agnes Henderson, b 16, September 1746.
- (33) iii John Henderson, b 9, Dec. 1748.
- (34) iv Mary Henderson, b 19, Dec. 1750.
- (35) v Rev. Joseph Washington Henderson, b 16, Apr. 1763; d 9, Sept. 1836. Graduate from College of New Jersey in 1776; studied Theology and became a minister of the Presbyterian Church in Indiana Co., Penn.

FOURTH GENERATION

CHILDREN OF KEARNS HENDERSON (7) AND ELIZABETH ROBINSON.

- (36) i Andrew Henderson; m Elizabeth Robinson. Res. Mecklenburg Co., N. C.
- (37) ii David Robinson Henderson; m Peggy, dau of Wm. B. Alexander, Sr.

- (38) iii Kearns Henderson; m Lilly Parks; removed from Mecklenburg Co., N. C., to northern part of Cape Girardeau Co., Mo., 1819-20.

CHILDREN OF JOHN HENDERSON (8) AND MISS BENNETT.

- (39) i Bennett Henderson, b 28, Sept. 1750, near Milton, Va.; d 18, Jan. 1829 (some give date as 1793); m Elizabeth, dau of Col. Chas. Lewis of Buck Island and Mary Randolph (who was a dau of Isham Randolph and sister of Mrs. Peter Jefferson, mother of Pres. Thos. Jefferson). Bennett Henderson was a member of Lieut. George Gilmore's company which marched to Williamsburg 2, May 1775, to demand satisfaction of Lord Dunmore for the removal of power. He was Magistrate of Albemarle Co., in 1783. It was his land that the town of Milton was built on; he resided there and in the exercise of a liberal enterprising spirit, erected a large flouring mill and a tobacco warehouse that during the next thirty years, preserved the name of Henderson in the community.
- (40) ii Capt. William Henderson; with his brother John, he marched to Williamsburg 11, July 1775, under Lieut. Geo. Gilmer. Later he was commissioned Captain in the 9th Va.
- (41) iii John Henderson, b bef. 1757, in Albemarle Co., Va.; d 1790 in Albemarle Co.; m Frances, dau John Moore and Miss Jouett. John Henderson was owner, by gift, from his father and father-in-law, of a large tract of land lying below Milton and in the Biscuit Run Valley. He was High Sheriff of the county 1757-80, and Magistrate in 1783. He was a private in 1775 under Col. Chas. Lewis.
- (42) iv Elizabeth Henderson; m 1st, Isham Lewis; m 2nd, David Crawford.
- (43) v Frances Henderson; m John Thomas of Amherst Co., Va., who m (2nd) Ann Lewis, sister of Elizabeth Lewis, see No. 39.
- (44) vi Mary Henderson; m 1st, David Wood; m 2nd, Hon. D. Bullock, Atty. of the Albemarle bar in 1791.
- (45) vii Susan Henderson; m John Robert Clark; son of Micajah Clark and Judith Adams, of Albemarle and Bedford counties, Virginia.
- (46) viii Hannah Henderson; m Mr. Bullock.

CHILDREN OF DAVID HENDERSON (14) AND ELSEY ANDERSON.

Finley and Mary Ramsey, of Lincoln Co., Mo.—formerly of Shelby Co. Ky.), b 17, Sept. 1814; d 29, Nov. 1887, Callaway Co., Mo. Mr. Henderson was the second surveyor of Callaway Co., Mo., taking his office in 1827; a tobacco merchant at Portland, Mo., and later a general merchant at Fulton, Mo. He loved to hunt, but according to Mr. Glenndye, a neighbor, he was not a good marksman. Mr. Glenndye said that if Mr. Henderson ever killed a deer he would have to hold it. One day alone in the forest, Mr. Glenndye was attacked by an angry stag and dodged behind a tree, the stag continued his attack and his victim was forced to grasp the huge antlers around either side of the tree and to call for help. Mr. Henderson hearing the call, came and shot the stag. "There, I told you if you ever killed a deer I would have to hold it," was the thrust from Mr. Glenndye.

(68) ii Judge James Steele Henderson, b 2, Sept. 1807; d Jan. 1884, Fulton, Mo.; m June 1832, Emily Boone (b 1813; d 1873) dau Jesse B. Boone and gr-dau of the noted pioneer Daniel Boone and Rebecca Bryan. Jesse Boone was one of the commissioners appointed to organize Callaway Co., 1820; and a member of the General Assembly of Mo., during its first session. Judge Henderson came to Callaway with his father, from Fleming Co., Ky., in 1823; in 1827 obtained a situation in a store in Fulton, Mo., as a clerk; in 1830 he opened a store of his own in the same town; elected Treasurer of Callaway in 1842; later treasurer of the Mo. State Insane Asylum No. 1, located at Fulton; Second Treas. of Westminster College. In 1860 was instrumental in organizing the Fulton branch of the Western Bank of Mo., and was elected cashier, which position he held during the life of the Bank, 1860-65. Mrs. Henderson was one of the thirteen charter members of Fulton Presbyterian church.

Henderson of Fulton, in the mercantile business for ten years. A man of deep thought, and like Gen. Von Moltke, was distinguished for his silence.

(70) iv Fulton M. Henderson, d in infancy, Kentucky.

(71) v Jane Wright Henderson, b 15, Jan. 1812, Augusta Co., Va.; d 1, Dec., Callaway Co., Mo.; m 14, July 1830, Col. Isaac Tate, b 29, Aug, 1808, Green Co., Ky.; d 15, Feb. 1889, AuxVasse, Mo. Col. Tate was the son of John Tate, Esq. (b 3, Nov. 1772, Augusta Co., Va.; d 1, Aug. 1854, Callaway Co., Mo.) m 27, Feb. 1784, Elizabeth McClanahan, dau of Elijah McClanahan. John Tate, Esq., was a son of Capt. Jas. Tate who was killed in the battle of Guilford Courthouse 15, Mar. 1781, and his wife, Sarah Hall (dau of Edward Hall and Eleanor Stuart). Sarah Hall was a cousin to: Hon. John Brown who served three consecutive terms in the U. S. Senate from Ky.; Judge Mason Brown of Ky.; Hon. B. Gratz Brown, Gov. of Mo., and candidate for Vice-Pres. of the United States on the Greely ticket; Hon. Jas. Brown, U. S. Senator from New Orleans and later Minister to France; Jno. H. Fulton, M. C., Va.—Hon. Alex. Stuart, Judge U. S. Court in Mo.; Hon. A. H. Stuart, member of Congress from Virginia, and Sec. of Interior in Pres. Taylor's Cabinet, and a sister to Judge John Hall, of the Supreme Court of N. C.

Col. Isaac Tate, although never a seeker for public office, was a distinguished debater, public spirited citizen and zealous worker in the Presbyterian Church. He was a ruling elder in the Old AuxVasse church for 56 1-2 years, a frequent delegate to the Synod of Mo., and Gen. Assembly. Was a member of the Board of Westminster College from its foundation until his death. He gained his military title by being elected to the command of a regiment of volunteers in what was known as the Mormon war. Mrs. Tate united with the church of her husband in 1832 and lived in its communion until her death. She was a woman of the noblest Christian character, choosing to think of and comment on the virtues of her friends and acquaintances rather than to notice their faults.

- (88) vii John Lowery Henderson, b 1821, Fleming Co., Ky.; d 1837; unm.; a highly respected young farmer. It is related that on the 4th of July, 1837, he had attended a horse race in the county and was returning home to late dinner. Old Sil-ler, a negro slave woman, directed him to a "Hoe-cake" in the pantry, and being hungry, he ate heartily. On the following day he was found dead in a sitting posture, leaning against a tree by the creek. Investigations proved the guilt of the old negro woman, who confessed putting poison in the cake, intentionally. Feeling ran high in the community, the old slave was given money and invited to cross the river, which she did, but later returned and died in a cabin on the Henderson farm. Others of the family suffered from the poisoned hoe-cake and escaped death only because of having eaten sparingly.

of John Nichol of Allen Co. Collins, in his History of Kentucky, speaks of Gen. John H. Morgan's grateful acknowledgement of the great ingenuity of Capt. Thos. Hines (of this family) in devising and coolly directing the escape of himself and six of his captains from the Federal penitentiary at Columbus, Ohio, in Nov. 1863. Capt. Hines was not over 23 at the time, a young man of great tact, energy, nerve and endurance, who argued in his mind that the dryness of the prison cells must be due to air passages or ventilators beneath, to prevent the moisture from rising. A plan was conceived to remove the brick and cement in the floors, locate the air chambers and by undermining the foundations, escape. The work was begun on the 4th of November and completed on the 26th. The escape was cautiously made on the 28th.
